Discover Germany in your own way

This brochure aims to give you some ideas on how to experience all the different aspects that Germany has to offer. Discovering Germany under your own steam can certainly be very good value too. With more than 300 places to stay, this brochure offers a representative selection of the wide variety of accommodation that is available. Whether you are looking to stay in modern or historical towns, in the green countryside, in pleasant villages, in wooded highlands or on the flat North Sea and Baltic coasts, in river valleys or at relaxing health resorts, you will find affordable accommodation everywhere. In addition, the standards in Germany are very high.

Germany is a great place for an active holiday. Enjoy the beauty of nature on stunning hiking trails, follow one of the exciting themed cycle routes or discover the cultural treasures of the country's towns and cities by car. There is so much to choose from, whether you want to splash around in the water, admire spectacular lakes and riverscapes, relax with a beach holiday on the North Sea or Baltic coast or visit a family-friendly coastal resort. And then there is the wide variety of cultural festivals. All kinds of different festivals are celebrated throughout the year in Germany; from wine festivals, music festivals, medieval tournaments, open-air plays, theatre performances and rock, pop and classical concerts to a wide range of sporting events and art exhibitions, not to mention the famous Christmas markets. There is something for everyone. Give it a go. Visit our website www.germany.travel.

Embark on a journey of discovery.
A warm welcome is assured.

Booking:

Please make your room reservation directly with the accommodation provider. You can download the brochure on our website at: www.germany.travel/eBrochure, 'Great holidays on a small budget'.

Languages:

The accommodation providers' reception staff generally also speak English. Some speak other languages too.

Liability:

The information in this brochure is based on information supplied by the service providers at the time of collation in October 2014. Errors and omissions excepted.

Orientation:

Looking for the insider's guide to Germany? We highlight the very best that Germany has to offer!

From the buzz of modern city life to dreamy hideaway places: Discover romantic lanes, spacious pedestrian areas, exclusive shopping miles, museums, delicious delicacies of national and international gastronomy and cosy cafés that make Germany's towns and cities a culinary event like no other. In addition, there are many trade fairs, conferences, congresses from around the world, as well as theatre, opera and concerts of international stature, sightseeing tours with expert guides, open-air festivals, sporting events and so much more! Visitors can choose accommodation ranging from first-class hotels to more modest establishments.

Berlin shows off its world class reputation as a place where trends are born: the city is a shopper's paradise, an art hub and also has a legendary nightlife! Munich dazzles visitors with its clubbing scene, which is now trendier and cooler than ever before. Shopping in Düsseldorf is an A-List experience, while Dresden triumphs as a complete work of art; Leipzig scores highly with its legendary bar scene and is considered a Mecca for artists.

Frankfurt's skyline is world-famous, but who knows the name of the imposing skyscrapers and how tall they actually are? The Hanseatic city of Hamburg in the north is Germany's largest seaport. Between the football, currywurst, dance floors and laser shows lies a big party scene, which transforms the whole Ruhr area into one entertainment metropolis – and that's only the beginning!

Anyone who visits Germany's towns and cities will fall in love with them and want to visit again and again.

Berlin

The German capital located directly on the river Spree and Germany's seat of government. This hotspot in the former East Germany is multi-cultural, sexy and more diverse than New York! Berlin pulsates and is among the hottest top ten capitals in the world. Architecture, culture, fashion and a legendary night life reflects a dazzling lifestyle.

Those who want to get to know Berlin style have come to the right place – this capital scene with its sleek shopping malls attracts visitors in droves and is celebrated as the new fashion capital of the world. Whether trendy fashion, funky second-hand fashion, stylish designer fashion or cool scene clothes, the many flagship stores and quirky shops have something for everyone. The art and flea markets should also not be missed.

See who hangs out there! When it comes to culture, the multicultural city on the Spree river is in a league of its own. The Berlin Museum Island is labelled a Site of World Cultural Heritage by UNESCO and has over 200 museums; Berlin has one of the most diverse and interesting museum landscapes in the world. With so many museums, it can be difficult to navigate your way through this cultural jungle! This city is simply bursting with creativity.

In fact, the whole city is one big event. There is something going on here 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. The legendary nightlife has also long been talked about: nights with no curfew and relaxed dress codes have given this city a good reputation for celebrating.

Those who are interested in everything multicultural simply must visit Berlin. Berlin: larger than Paris, cheekier than New York and more modern than London. It simply has charisma and here the whole world feels at home! No matter where you come from or where you are going, all roads lead to Berlin. As the German capital, the city is addictive. Full of glamour and glory, high-flying adventures, with big-hearted, courageous, candid and eccentric people: a metropolis that really shows what it's made of. So much beauty can be difficult to describe, you have to experience the city for yourself. There is always a good reason to find a date to fill up on capital air.

Hamburg

The Free and Hanseatic city on the Elbe, the global travel and cruise liner metropolis in northern Germany, is one of the country's most attractive tourist magnets, and along with its many synonyms, is also a good place for maritime romanticism and great sailing trips. Anyone who visits this federal city state, Germany's second-largest city, has a full spectrum of choice: big ships, distant stars, tiny trains, or the very cool Reeperbahn. The port city also plays a significant role in the world as a global hub, as well as a logistics, media and aviation centre. Hamburg without its harbour would be like New York without the Statue of Liberty – simply unimaginable!

The HafenCity district, with its shopping, gastronomy and culture, is truly a 24-hour city. A place where people meet to have fun and dance the night away: from classy to chic, casual to hip, the Hamburg bars and nightlife is as varied as its visitors. The city sets trends: next to London and New York, Hamburg is considered the most important musical metropolis. Art and culture in all forms have taken over the city on the Elbe. With numerous theatre performances, exhibitions, musical theatre, open air and performance events, almost 100 museums, from the world-renowned ballet company to the iconic Reeperbahn theatre, the Hanseatic city has a firm place on the international cultural map. Hamburg is a cool, exciting city. Not only is there spectacular architecture along the waterfront, the city is real eye-catcher when it comes to all things natural.

Hamburg's heart beats maritime. The Elbe port (Elbhafen) is a haven of superlatives: a parallel universe with quays, fascinating museums and places to watch ships sail by. Sightseeing by barge on a tour of the harbour is a fascinating experience in itself. The Neo-Renaissance style town hall is one of the famous landmarks and the pride of the city. With nearly 650 rooms, it is bigger than Buckingham Palace! The city has a merchant spirit and every pleasure its price: those who want to be close to heaven and see Hamburg from above can climb the 449 steps of St. Michael's Church. Hamburg's famous „Michel“ church is not only the most important baroque church in northern Germany, but it could also be seen as one of the world's tallest lighthouses. It once guided ships along the Elbe river.

Hamburg on the Elbe – such a wonderfully cool breeze! A visit to the beautiful Hanseatic city in northern Germany is definitely worthwhile, no matter where you come from. Enjoy the Embassy of the North: once you have conquered Hamburg, why not visit the rest of the country?

Bremen

Bremen, with an area of around 400 km², is the smallest federal state in north-west Germany. The Free Hanseatic City of Bremen is one of the city states and is sometimes referred to as a “two-city state” because it consists of two geographically separate cities (Bremen and Bremerhaven). The most famous place in Bremen is probably the Bremen Town Hall Square (Rathausplatz) in the old quarter, which is a UNESCO World Heritage site.

The Roland statue, a landmark of the city, can also be found there. Right next to it is another monument dedicated to the city’s other “famous” residents – the Bremen Town Musicians. Since these were created by the Brothers Grimm, Bremen is also the starting or end point of the German Fairytale Route; how could it be any other way?

The city and state of Bremen is full of cultural and historical opportunities to explore. Avant-garde and old masters, spectacular theatre, workshop stages, concert highlights and the sound of the time, tradition or customs: Bremen’s theatres and concert halls offer an inexhaustible diversity that shapes the world of knowledge and museum landscape. The Bremer Ratskeller (council wine cellar) is a distinctive cultural feature. People have been coming here for over 600 years; it is one of the oldest wine cellars in Germany and if the walls could speak, perhaps it would not reveal its secrets so easily.

The Schnoor quarter is the city’s prime location and a tourist hub. The small houses from the 15th and 16th centuries are like pearls on a string, strung together in Bremen’s oldest district. It was once the artisans’ quarter but now it houses modern boutiques, quaint shops, cosy pubs and nice cafes. A unique ensemble is the 100-metre long lane, known as the Böttcherstrasse, which is home to arts and craft shops and studios. It was built from traditional and expressionist red brick architecture.

In the middle of the city, just a few steps from the main square and the river Weser, is the Schlachte Embankment featuring a multitude of restaurants, beer gardens, pleasure crafts, quays, antiques and bric-à-brac markets. Whether sailing on the Weser or just watching ships go by, strolling, enjoying, eating, drinking and partying, the magic of the Schlachte Embankment seduces everyone.

Bremen is a city like no other!

Welcome to the Seaside City of Bremerhaven

Fascinating attractions such as the Klimahaus Bremerhaven 8° Ost (Climate House), the German Maritime Museum, the German Emigration Center and the Zoo at the Sea as well as ships, water, fish, shopping and much more in Bremerhaven on the German North Sea coast.

Baden-Württemberg

Friedrichshafen, Lake Constance ©Dornier Museum

The state of Baden-Württemberg with its regional capital Stuttgart is located in the south-west of Germany. A land of superlatives between tradition and modernity: the home of the Hohenzollern dynasty, cuckoo clocks, zeppelins, Daimler-Chrysler and Porsche. „See, savour and be surprised“ is their motto, for the list of attractions here is long! Sometimes you just have to prioritise.

Black Forest

The Black Forest with its dark pine woods offers a unique wealth and range of historical attractions and fascinating natural spectacles. It is regarded as a romantic myth, a magnificent cultural landscape and an unspoilt paradise. Waterfalls, gorges, lakes, enchanted valleys, wildlife, mountains, springs, caves, towers and nature parks are just waiting to be explored. The largest and highest low German mountain range will delight you with its wealth of natural beauty at any time of year.

Lake Constance

Take the plunge at Lake Constance! Germany's largest lake scores highly among visitors with its versatility. Many beautiful towns and attractions are located here, such as the Flower Island of Mainau, the UNESCO World Heritage island of Reichenau, the prehistoric pile dwellings in Unteruhldingen, the Zeppelin Museum in Friedrichshafen, Meersburg Castle, or the harbour in Lindau – a visit will definitely be worth your while. In addition to boat trips on Lake Constance, there is also a diverse range of activities and cultural offerings to be had.

Tauberfranken

If the region of Tauberfranken were a person, then the “Charming Tauber valley” would be its heart. The “Romantic Road” tourist route runs through Tauberfranken, as well as the classic “Tauber Valley Cycle Route” and some other award-winning cycle routes. The region is a natural landscape and with its magnificent buildings and attractions forms a cultural area par excellence. Good food and drink is part of the culture here and is among the best in the country” – there's much more to be discovered than just the highly-esteemed wines of the Charming Tauber Valley.

Bavaria

©Pfronten Tourismus Erich Malter

In southern Germany, the State of Bavaria shines with Munich, the regional capital, and its picture-perfect countryside. It is a wonderful mix of many ingredients: culture, impressive nature and mountain scenery, traditions and customs, but also modernity.

Allgäu/Swabia

Between Lake Constance and Lech there really is no shortage of rural natural beauty and charming landscapes. Those who want to recharge their batteries, relax and unwind have come to the right place. In Swabia there is lots to see, from the Nördlinger Ries impact crater in the north to the peaks of the Alps in the south, with historic towns and sites along the way, Fugger houses, castles and palaces, the Legoland theme park and much more.

Upper Bavaria

Bavaria's regions present highlight after highlight – the beauty never stops! Monarchs, abbots, priests, citizens and renowned master builders of centuries past have left behind stunning monuments and picturesque villages. World-famous attractions like the splendid castle of King Ludwig II, monasteries and churches, numerous attractions and endless natural beauty make the region extremely attractive for visitors in all seasons.

Lower Bavaria/Bavarian Forest

Discover a dazzling array of magnificent old towns. Explore castles, palaces, pilgrimage churches and monasteries. Fairytale destinations for a countryside outing can be found along the Danube, Naab, Inn and Ilz rivers. Water sports, golf, rock climbing, beauty and fitness, cycling and hiking fun and winter sports packed with lots of fun and action are part of the ultimate thrill. The Bavarian Forest really showcases its natural beauty through forests, mighty mountain crests and little mountain lakes. The treetop walk in the Bavarian Forest National Park allows you to experience this microcosm from a lofty height.

Franconia

A core of German history, this region is rich in historic towns, scenic jewels and pearls of great architecture, from the Romans and ubiquitous Middle Ages to the Baroque and Rococo. The Altmühl Valley Nature Park is like a geological puzzle. It has many faces, each one more beautiful than the other. The region is enjoyed by culture lovers, just as much as nature lovers, sports enthusiasts and fans of Franconian cuisine.

Brandenburg

Potsdam: Schloss Sanssouci, Potsdam ©DZT/Rainer Kiedrowski

Brandenburg, the diverse land of poets and writers in north-east Germany, with its regional capital Schwerin, has long been the historic core of the Prussian state and has more water than any other German state.

For watersports enthusiasts, there are over 3,000 natural lakes and more than 33,000 km of rivers and streams. Even when out walking or cycling the sight of this city will definitely cheer your heart; indulge in the fresh air and the beautiful colours of nature.

Barnim

Just 50 km north-east of Berlin the picturesque Finow canal quietly passes through the gentle hilly landscape of the Barnim countryside. Surrounded by extensive forest and the lakes of Schorfheide, the area with its nature park in the centre is an ideal base for excursions and discoveries.

Havelland

The district of Havelland directly borders Berlin and Potsdam. Sleepy villages and wide marshes are characteristic for this region, around which the River Havel flows. For nature lovers and those interested in culture, discovery trips though the Westhavelland Nature Park are always worthwhile.

Uckermark

You can explore Uckermark, in the northeastern part of the March of Brandenburg, by land or by water. The region is marked by the conservation areas of the Lower Oder Valley National Park, the Schorfheide-Chorin biosphere reserve and the Uckermark Lakes nature reserve. A delightful region – a place where the woods are a little bit greener and the lakes a little bit clearer than elsewhere.

Hesse

The state of Hesse south-west of the centre of Germany is characterised by contrasts and diversity: on the one hand cosmopolitan, modern and international, on the other hand committed to tradition and history. With the financial centre of Frankfurt am Main, whose airport is among the 10th largest in the world, lies one of the most important cities in the Rhine-Main area. However, the regional capital is actually Wiesbaden.

Vogelsberg

The Vogelsberg mountain is Europe's largest volcano. Whilst it may not be as spectacular as Kilimanjaro or the volcanoes on Hawaii, it is rich in natural geological beauty. In the summer months there are many opportunities to go on cycling tours in addition to hiking. The Volcano Cycle Path and the Southern Rail Cycle Route are both asphalted and also benefit inline skaters. There are also well-marked mountain bike trails. The Vogelsberg Hills Volcanic Loop Trail is a new hiking trail, which circumnavigates Europe's largest extinct volcano. The Hoherodskopf mountain peak is a tourist hub of the region. Here you will find the Nature Conservation Information Centre of the "Hoher Vogelsberg" Nature Park.

Rheingau

Wiesbaden marks the gateway to the Rheingau, which is one of Germany's most important wine-growing regions. Where the width of the Rhine stretches to almost a kilometre, nobility and clergy have settled here for a millennium and created a string of some of the most important architectural monuments in Germany, including Eberbach Abbey and Johannisberg and Vollrads Castles. Everything signifies the harmony of man, culture and wine that is the essence of the flair, charm and special joie de vivre of the Rheingau. The Electoral Castle of Eltville from the 14th century is a must-see, with its magnificent rose beds and castle gardens.

Rhine-Main

The Rhine-Main region with Frankfurt located at the heart, the Taunus mountains, the Odenwald forest, the Rheingau, together with the Rhine and Main river landscapes, as well as the forests and hills of Taunus, Vogelsberg and Spessart, are an absolute must for sightseers and popular all-year-round. Frankfurt is surrounded by many historic towns and fancy spa resorts. An impressive skyline, historic half-timbered old towns and elegant Art Nouveau architecture alternate with castles and palaces.

Mecklenburg-Western Pomerania

Wismar Harbour ©Dr. Hans-J. Aubert

The state of Mecklenburg-Vorpommern, in the far north-east of Germany, has virtually everything a visitor could want, and perhaps even a little more. Around 200 km of Baltic Sea coastline, tranquil harbour towns and pleasant imperial spa resorts, imposing brick Gothic architecture, lovingly staged, elaborate seaside villa architecture and long piers for a stroll, over 10 marinas, beautiful countryside, approximately 2,000 lakes, natural surroundings at their best, plenty of sunshine and an incredible wealth of cultural and artistic treasures.

The Island of Rügen

The islands of the Mecklenburg-Vorpommern Baltic coast are a firm favourite. White as chalk and kissed by the sea: immortalised by the painter Caspar David Friedrich, the island of Rügen, with its characteristic white chalk cliffs, is the epitome of German Romanticism. The National Park Centre situated directly on the Königsstuhl (King's Chair), the famous landmark of the island, is a truly unique experience.

Mecklenburg Switzerland

Whether it be cycling, horse riding, hiking, swimming, fishing, sailing, surfing, or wanting to enjoy the arts or cultural richness, Mecklenburg Switzerland, with its rugged landscape and natural surroundings offers something for everyone. Between the sparkling waters and wooded hills, visitors will find a host of stately manor houses and magnificent country castles with old parks and gardens. Many of these once noble buildings are now guesthouses, hotels or holiday resorts where visitors come to relax and enjoy the natural beauty.

Lower Saxony, the second largest state, whose regional capital is Hanover, can hardly be surpassed in its diversity. Seascapes, lakes, channels and the Harz low mountain range are just as important as the stretches of the Lüneburg Heath, the castles and secular buildings of the Weser Renaissance Route or the tranquil Rundlingsdörfer (round villages) in the Wendlands.

East Friesland/North Sea coast

Spectacular countryside and islands for the senses: the North Sea is always within sight and there is more beach than you could ever possibly need for a holiday. Mills, lighthouses, ebbs and flows, UNESCO World Heritage coastal mudflats, informative mudflat hiking, water sports, the German Fens Route or International Dollard cycling routes, fens, fertile marshland, sandy heathland, East Frisian tea and much more. East Friesland may not have invented days out, but it certainly knows the best ways to spend them.

Harz

High mountains, rolling valleys, forests, vast plateaus, medieval towns and villages with lovingly decorated half-timbered houses, churches, monasteries, castles and palaces, as well as a wide range of recreational activities – this is Harz. Hardly any other mountain is surrounded by such legend and mystery. The Harz narrow-gauge railway has been running here for almost 100 years. Many of the steam trains that pound up and down Mount Brocken are not that much younger.

Lüneburg Heath

The Lüneburg Heath is a large area of moorland, sandy heathland and forest landscape. Whether cycling, hiking, Nordic walking, horse riding, water touring or horse-cart ride, these gentle rolling hills are a veritable Garden of Eden for holidaymakers with energy to burn. 6 medieval convents are still in existence. They house works of art and are also open to the public.

Braunschweiger Land region

The region of Braunschweig is an exciting time travel destination. The rich history reveals itself in treasures of the past, but also the present and future. Discover over 80 exciting places from primitive times to the present day and much more.

North Rhine-Westphalia

Cologne ©Rainer Kiedrowski

With its regional capital Düsseldorf, North Rhine-Westphalia is the most populated state in Germany. Those who hear the name North Rhine-Westphalia often think of the ‚cathedrals of industry‘, but some also have large rivers, forests and lakes in mind. Places where steel was once forged have now emerged as the cultural hot spots of leisure. Smelting works have been transformed into landscaped parks, water towers turned into museums and collieries made into adventure playgrounds and adventure parks. Without North Rhine-Westphalia and without the former German capital Bonn, the history of the Federal Republic would be inconceivable – the same could be said for European history.

Cologne-Bonn region/Niederrhein

The region is colourful, exciting and diverse. Those who hear the names Cologne and Bonn immediately think of Cologne Cathedral, carnival, the former capital, Beethoven or the Rhine. However, anyone familiar with the Lower Rhine region will associate it with a diverse landscape, crisscrossed by small rivers, fens and heathland, as well as extensive conservation areas. There are also a considerable number of medieval towns, lovingly recovered traces of the Roman past, windmills and watermills, moated castles and palaces.

East Westphalia/Lippe

A trip to the eastern part of the state is like taking a break from everyday life. Wonderful parks and gardens, hiking amid glorious countryside, travelling by bicycle or electric bike, wellness, health holiday, culture and history at every turn, on foot or on horseback through a varied landscape, on circular tours or trails along rivers between towns, romantic villages, fairytale castles and venerable abbeys.

Sauerland/Bergisches Land region

In Sauerland, the land of 1,000 hills, there is plenty to discover both above and below ground: sleepy half-timbered villages, vast lakes, impressive stalactite caves, wooded wilderness, but also historic towns and unusual museums. The natural arena of the Bergisches Land region simply breathes diversity. There are many reservoirs that serve as drinking water reservoirs and also recreation areas. Castles, palaces, ecclesiastical buildings, museums and places of technical interest have a lot of stories to tell. Hiking, cycling, culture and nature, tranquility, wellness and relaxation – this is a region you just have to experience for yourself.

The state of Rhineland-Palatinate with its regional capital Mainz is located in the south-west of Germany. The “German Wine Route” also runs through this state and is where the majority of Germany’s oldest towns can be found. Johannes Gutenberg invented the printing press here in 1440, and in 1521 Martin Luther stood before the Imperial Diet of Worms. In addition to cultural treasures, this state impresses visitors with picturesque landscapes where you can discover unspoilt nature, cultural diversity and culinary excellence in equal measure.

Eifel/Westerwald forest

There are volcanoes aplenty in the Eifel region. In Central Europe’s largest volcanic landscape, there are 350 cones, crater lakes, geysers and craters, so-called “plumes” or “hot spots” can also be found here. Natural beauty, churches, abbeys, castles, palaces and much more. The Eifel has something to offer everyone. The Rhine/Westerwald Forest Nature Park is a particularly splendid piece of nature and lures visitors with a package full of surprises.

Rhein/Moselle

A location that has the wow effect! This beautiful natural and cultural landscape, with its lure of the Rhine, has amazed visitors in quiet disbelief time and time again. The much sung German Rhine is certainly one of the most beautiful rivers in Europe. The same can also be said for its longest tributary, the Moselle. Who would have thought that the Rhine and Moselle would make such a lovely couple? Vines, castles and ruins protrude above the scenery, and in the villages, over 2,000 years of cultural life characterised by settlement along both rivers, friendly hosts will welcome you.

Palatinate/Palatinate Forest

In the Palatinate, Germany’s southernmost region, the draw of the compass needle delivers what it promises. The weather and climate here is particularly fine, and those who leave the stretches of the Palatinate forest behind them will find a Garden of Eden: a place where almond trees flower pink in the spring, figs, lemons and mighty oleander bushes populate the courtyards and gardens in summer, and seas of grapes filled with sun and flavour call out for harvesting in the autumn.

Hunsrück

The wildly romantic Hunsrück, part of the Rhenish-Westphalian Slate Mountains, is surrounded by the Moselle, Rhine and Nahe; its highest peak is the “Erbeskopf” at 816 m. The Saar-Hunsrück and Soonwald-Nahe nature reserve offers a wide range of outdoor activities. The “German Gemstone Route” is also located here, as well as a section of the “German Motorbike Route” for bikers.

Bacharach

(Middle Rhine) Idyllic half-timbered town on the left bank of the Rhine, at marker 543, in the “Middle Rhine Valley” UNESCO World Heritage site, on the “Rhine Cycle Route” and close to the “Legendary Rhine-Romantic” tourist route. Walkable town walls with towers, Stahleck Castle, Stahlberg Castle ruins, Stahlberg Post Tower, boat trips on the Rhine, events.

Saxony

Dresden, Zwinger Castle ©Rainer Kiedrowski

The Free State of Saxony is Germany's most eastward state. The regional capital Dresden located on both sides of the river Elbe is in a class of its own with all sorts of worthwhile things to see and do. The regions of Saxony are characterised by a diverse natural and cultural landscape, vast forests and mountain towns proudly display their tradition, culture and craftsmanship. Those who believe that all Saxons are the same are mistaken – they are just as varied as the landscape!

Erzgebirge mountains/Vogtland

Almost every region has something typical associated with it. The Vogtland situated in the Erzgebirge/Vogtland Nature Park has its so-called "music corner" and is famous for organ music. The Erzgebirge mining region is renowned for toy making, woodcarving, pyramids and incense burners – and of course, for its beautiful Christmas celebrations.

Elbland/Saxon Switzerland

In the Saxon Elbland, the romantic river landscape between Dresden and Torgau, you will find one of Europe's most northerly wine growing areas. The Saxon Switzerland National Park is also a must-see for any visitor and should be explored in all its glory. The area attracts nature lovers and walkers seeking panoramic views with hiking trails through rugged canyons, for cycling and rock climbing, and rewards visitors with breathtaking views.

The Saxon Land of Castles/Oberlausitz

An above-average density of castles, magnificent palaces and manor houses, nestling in an attractive natural and river landscape makes Saxony the land of castles. The extraordinary region of Upper Lusatia between Görlitz and Bautzen with the UNESCO Upper Lusatia Heath and Pond Biosphere Reserve (Oberlausitzer Heide- und Teichlandschaft) has a wealth of cultural treasures just waiting to be discovered and important testimonies to the garden culture of Upper Lusatia.

Saxony-Anhalt

The state of Saxony-Anhalt, whose regional capital is Magdeburg, is a heartland of German history. Whether it be early human history, the Middle Ages, the Reformation and Enlightenment, or industrialisation and classic modernity – such diversity can hardly be found anywhere else in such a small area, and have become tourist sights and places of pilgrimage.

Harz: Experience breathtaking scenery and discover unusual perspectives by land, sea and air – it is almost impossible to sit still! The Harz region guarantees visitors choice like nowhere else. Whether for fans of mountain biking, hiking, climbing, watersports, winter sports, or amateur geologists and fossil collectors, the Harz is a fascinating region.

Anhalt-Wittenberg: the easternmost region invites visitors into the realm of ideas and historic backdrops: from Martin Luther, who reformed the Christian world with his thesis posted to the castle church in Wittenberg, to Johann Sebastian Bach, who created his Brandenburg concertos here and much more.

Garden Kingdom of Dessau-Wörlitz: From Prince Friedrich Franz of Anhalt-Dessau, who in the spirit of the Enlightenment turned his entire territory of Dessau-Wörlitz into a garden kingdom, to the avant-garde artists of the Dessau Bauhaus, whose revolutionary ideas inspired 20th century art.

Saale-Unstrut: Castles, palaces, proud towns, pristine landscapes with vineyards, steep terraces, centuries-old dry walls, romantic vineyard houses and picturesque river valleys characterise the landscape of the Saale-Unstrut wine region. The region not only attracts wine lovers as if by magic, but is also considered an „insider tip“ amongst knowledgeable enthusiasts and connoisseurs of medieval architecture.

Thuringia

Carl Zeiss Planetarium, Jena ©German Cyclists' Federation (ADFC) V.

Those who visit Thuringia can snap a picture from the geographical centre of Germany. The regional capital Erfurt is a real beauty; a weekend visit is much too short to get to know the city well, but it's a good start. It's all in the mix! There's plenty to see and do in the Thuringia region. Much is reminiscent of famous thinkers such as Goethe, Schiller, Luther and Bach. The lights are also on green for all things cultural, nature, outdoor activities and recreation.

Thuringian Forest/Rennsteig

This nature park amazes everyone! Discover nature, castles, Thuringian cuisine and tradition: on either side of the Rennsteig trail with its enchanting tributary valleys, former ducal towns, traditional villages and romantic mountain villages are all waiting to be discovered. Whether on foot, by bike or on the water, the region has plenty to offer sport lovers and active types.

Altenburger Land region

The Altenburger region in the far east of Thuringia is more than just an insider tip! This scenic hilly landscape is characterised by idyllic four-sided farmsteads, large forest areas and beautifully located lakes. Enjoy some leisure time, experience nature, play some sports and discover something that can't be found anywhere else. Hundreds of years ago, even Emperor Barbarossa knew just how charming and exciting this place is.

Weimarer Land region

In the Weimarer Land region, in middle of eastern Thuringia, where the spirit and landscape meet, where nature and culture are considered the greatest of treasures, and where history is to be found in every square kilometre, the memory of Luther, Bach, Schiller and Goethe lives on. Enjoy the legendary natural and cultural world of the Weimarer Land region, discover the most magical places and have fun doing it.

Unstrut/Hainich

Travelling along the region of Unstrut-Hainich and the Hainich UNESCO World Heritage National Park, you will reach the western edge of the Thuringian Basin, which is part of an old cultural landscape. As well as small farming towns you will discover quaint farming villages to be interesting destinations for excursions.

The historic Wartburg Castle in Eisenach, the former abbeys of Volkenroda, Zella and Anrode connect the history and the nature of the region and much more.

The travel guide that offers more choice – Scenic routes and themed routes

There are almost 200 scenic routes and themed routes to choose from in Germany: around half form a linear route, whilst others form a circular route or network. Some are well-known in Germany and further afield, whereas others are secrets waiting to be discovered! These routes are an attractive travel guide for domestic and foreign visitors and offer an appealing mix of driving pleasure and new experiences, where the pace and length of the journey, and even the theme, are determined by the traveller. These fascinating routes will lead you on a “road of happiness”, over mountain passes, old trade and military roads, coastal paths and asphalt tracks.

Some routes even have their own special magic! Surrounded by myth and legend, they run through picturesque landscapes and give a sense of freedom and adventure. The routes traverse the whole of Germany and are sometimes themed around fine wines, gourmet food, great history or fine arts. For visitors who long for an extra helping of romance, there is the “Romantic Road” with the tourist highlight of Neuschwanstein Castle. If castles are your thing, then the “Castle Road” route is a great way to see Germany’s medieval castles and palaces.

For wine connoisseurs, why not choose from one of the many wine routes?

The “German Wine Route” is a classic and full of indulgence! Historical events come to life on the “Route of Democracy”, and for architecture-lovers there is the “Romanesque Route”, the “European Route of Brick Gothic” and the “German Half-Timbered Houses Route”. Mystical stones take centre stage on the “Route of Megalithic Culture”, and on the “German Motorbike Route” every twist and turn is a new adventure, more beautiful than the last. But that’s not all!

Germany is one of the most fascinating and diverse travel destinations in the world. Anyone who has caught the travelling bug after their trip to Germany will find it difficult to shake off! Once you have seen the picturesque landscapes, romantic villages and lively cities, and discovered the refreshing informality of the people, you will fall in love with Germany and will wish to see it again and again!

Why not discover Germany from the North Sea to the Alps along the scenic routes?
